Technology and Antitrust/Competition Policy -
Economists' views and next steps after the Whistleblower Hearings

October 27, 2021, from 2:00 pm to 3:00 pm EDT

PANELISTS

Carl Shapiro
Professor, Haas School of Business and the Department of Economics at the University of California at Berkeley

Carl Shapiro is a Professor at the University of California at Berkeley.

Shapiro served as a Senate-confirmed Member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers from 2011 to 2012. For the two years immediately prior to that, he was the Deputy Assistant Attorney General for Economics at the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice; he also held that position from 1995 to 1996. Shapiro is a recognized authority on antitrust economics who has often testified on behalf of the government in antitrust cases.

Luigi Zingales
*Professor, University of Chicago
Booth School of Business*

Zingales's research interests span from corporate governance to financial development, from political economy to the economic effects of culture. He co-developed the Financial Trust Index, which is designed to monitor the level of trust that Americans have toward their financial system.

In addition to holding his position at Chicago Booth, Zingales is currently a faculty research fellow for the National Bureau of Economic Research, a research fellow for the Center for Economic Policy Research, and a fellow of the European Governance Institute. He is also the director of the Stigler Center for the Study of the Economy and the State. Zingales also serves on the board of ProMarket and is the co-host of the podcast Capitalisn't. In 2014 he was the President of the American Finance Association.
