Question 11: View on Independents Voting in Primaries/Arguments
 Now I would like to read you two arguments on the issue of independents voting in primary elections, and see which comes closer to your view: (ROTATE)
 a. Independents should be allowed to vote in party primaries, because it will help produce candidates in both parties who are more moderate and more willing to compromise. b. The members of each party should choose their own nominees, so that they are represented by candidates who closely share their views and will stand for party principles.

Question 27: View on Tighter Voter Laws
 Which of the following comes closer to your view about efforts in some states to tighten voter laws, including requiring photo IDs and limiting early voting: (ROTATE) a. These changes are a good idea, because they reduce opportunities for voter fraud and protect the principle of one-person-one-vote. b. These changes are a bad idea, because they make it harder for legitimate voters to exercise their right to vote and are an attempt to gain a political advantage with those restrictions.

Question 28: View on Photo ID Laws

Which of the following comes closer to your view about efforts in some states to require voters to show photo ID in order to vote: (ROTATE) a. These changes help ensure that only eligible voters cast a ballot. If you can register to vote, you can take the time to obtain a free photo ID, whether that is a driver's license or another federal- or state-issued document. b. These changes make it more difficult for eligible voters to cast a ballot. Since seniors and minorities are less likely to have driver's licenses, it particularly restricts their right to vote.

Question 28: View on Photo ID Laws

Which of the following comes closer to your view about efforts in some states to require voters to show photo ID in order to vote: (ROTATE) a. These changes help ensure that only eligible voters cast a ballot. If you can register to vote, you can take the time to obtain a free photo ID, whether that is a driver's license or another federal- or state-issued document. b. These changes make it more difficult for eligible voters to cast a ballot. Since seniors and minorities are less likely to have driver's licenses, it particularly restricts their right to vote.
